FocalReview receives two FinancesOnline's 2017 Quality Awards for HR software

The youngest addition to our HR productivity suite is certainly one to be proud of, both because of positive customer feedback and expert appraisal. FocalReview recently appeared on one of the most popular software review platforms FinancesOnline, where it made a memorable impression, and won two of the best awards assigned by their B2B experts.

The professional team evaluated FocalReview's functionality, and submitted the system to a detailed scoring procedure to determine whether it meets users' needs. In conclusion, FocalReview was awarded with their 2017 Rising Star Award and the Great User Experience Award for their HR software category.

Both awards are reserved only for intuitive systems that facilitate compensation management. More specifically, the 2017 Rising Star Award is assigned exclusively to innovative products that record accelerated growth on competitive markets, while the Great User Experience Award is saved for those where users need no expensive installations or training to adopt the system's operating mode, or to complete their day-to-day tasks and assignments. In the case of Focal Review, the unique mixture of performance and compensation management features was also an incentive for experts to include FocalReview in their list of leading HR management solutions.

What experts found to be the highlight of our system was its almost unlimited configurability, where teams nevertheless find all asset and management tools needed to cover core HR operations. Affordable and easy to use, they said, FocalReview can help companies retain their most talented employees through a deferral vesting strategy, taking care at the same time of audit and budgetary matters, and business intelligence.
